

THOMAS KELLY

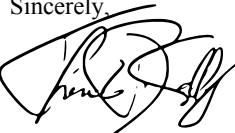

Executive Producer

To Whom It Concerns;

I write to unreservedly recommend actor Sal Rendino. I am currently Executive Producing Baz Luhrmann's Netflix original drama, "The Get Down", and we recently signed Sal to a significant Top of Show Recurring Guest Star role. I have known him personally and professionally for years, and I find him an impressive artist with whom you would be wise to meet.

Sal has been working tirelessly for almost 25 years, in order to develop himself as a truthful and impactful artist, and I have been witness to his captivating work in many arenas: Sal volunteered his time and talent in "The Actors and Writers Book Club", an outreach program I helped develop at the Writers Guild Foundation; he has worked on more than a few noteworthy network and major cable series, including NBC's recent 3-series crossover episode of "Law & Order SVU"; his independent film work has garnered increasing attention over the last few years.

It's my great fortune to know and work with Sal, and I adamantly recommend you welcome the same opportunity.

Sincerely,

Thomas Kelly
